

Frenchmen Say DeGaulle Could Lose Election

PARIS (UPI) — For the first time, Frenchmen are talking seriously about the possibility that President Charles de Gaulle may not win his bid for re-election Sunday.

That could mean the end of the "De Gaulle Era," with all the implications such a development would contain for France and the rest of the world at large.

This does not mean that the 75-year-old French leader is likely to be beaten by one of his five opponents in the presidential race, but people are beginning to wonder whether he can win a majority on the first try.

From a generally estimated support of about 66 per cent of the nation, the polls say he has fallen to less than 50 per cent within the last month.

Under the French voting system, in order to be elected on the first go-around Sunday, De Gaulle or one of his five opponents must get more than half the total votes cast. If not, there will be a runoff ballot Dec. 19 between the two highest contenders.

It is generally assumed that in such a runoff De Gaulle would be an easy winner. But the big question is whether he would subject himself to one. Many of his closest aides believe he would not.

As one high official, who is very close to De Gaulle, put it, "He hasn't told anyone what he would do. But as I know De Gaulle, I simply cannot imagine him subjecting himself to a runoff. He almost certainly would walk out and return to Colombey, his country home."

If De Gaulle fails to get the 50 per cent, it is argued, he would feel he has been rejected by the nation.

Veterans Won't Support Veto Of Tax Relief

LANSING (UPI) — Commanders of eight top veterans organizations have turned thumbs down on a plea by Gov. George Romney for their support of his veto of a $1 million tax relief program for disabled veterans.

But the commanders, representing 200,000 Michigan veterans, tempered the rejection by promising to consider an alternative proposal that Romney said would give the neediest veterans the greatest benefits.

Romney said there was still time this year to enact a "sound program" based on his recommendations. "The Legislature is still technically in session" and the deadline for review of property tax assessments is not until Dec. 31, he said.

Romney's proposal, drafted in the wake of the veto, would set up a scale pegging benefits to the degree of disability. It would also dovetail with the newly enacted Senior Citizens' Homestead Tax Exemption, which offers higher benefits than the present veterans exemption law.

The vetoes of two Republican senators — either for or against the veto — could be riding on the commanders' final decision on whether to accept the alternative proposal by Romney.

Democrats will need three votes in the Senate and one in the House to override the veto of the House to be considered at a special session Dec. 9.

Romney made his alternative proposal Wednesday during a private meeting with commanders and Republican lawmakers. The meeting was designed to soothe the grumblings of lawmakers who had threatened to override a Romney veto for the first time.

Robber Gets 2 Bags Of Money At Branch Bank

DETROIT (UPI) — A man ran off with two bags of money from a branch of the Michigan Bank Wednesday.

Police said that shortly before 11 a. m. the man entered the bank, he grabbed two night depository bags off a counter and ran out the door.

The bags contained about $4,400. Most of it was cash and $1,638 was in checks.

Boy, 3, Playing With Matches Badly Burned

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Willard W. Olson, 48, who retired from the Navy Wednesday, was named assistant director of operations at the Kent County Airport.

Olsen, for the past five years executive officer at the Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Maine, was with the Navy for 25 years.

At the airport here he succeeds Robert G. Van Arsen, who resigned in September to become manager of the Kalamazoo Airport.

Bishop Albers Dies In Lansing

LANSING (UPI) — Bishop Joseph H. Albers, spiritual leader of 212,533 Catholics in the 15-county Diocese of Lansing, died at St. Lawrence Hospital here Wednesday. He was 74.

Bishop Albers had been leader of the diocese since it was established by the late Pope Pius XI in May 1937 out of counties taken from the Diocese of Detroit and Grand Rapids. Since that time the Catholic population of the area has grown by more than 150 per cent.

Bishop Albers had been in poor health for a number of years and in October, 1964 had been relieved of administrative duties at his own request. However, he retained the title of spiritual leader of the diocese.

The Most Rev. Alexander M. Zaleski, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit, was appointed administrator of the Lansing Diocese in 1964 with immediate right of succession to Bishop Albers. The Rev. Zaleski was in Rome when the Bishop died.

Bishop Albers, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, served in World War I as a chaplain and won the Silver Star after being wounded three times and gassed once during the fighting in France. He returned to Cincinnati after the war and was auxiliary bishop of that diocese before coming to Lansing.

Great Grandson Of Rough Rider Is Navy Frogman

CORONADO, Calif. (UPI) — Theodore Roosevelt IV, great-grandson of the former President and Rough Rider, will graduate Friday as a Navy frogman.

Roosevelt, 23, said Wednesday he is looking forward to service in Viet Nam at the conclusion of his 21 weeks of rugged Underwater Demolition Team (UDT) training. "That's the whole purpose of the program here," he said. "Too few people realize that we are actually at war. Americans are getting killed there every day."

Roosevelt, of Paoli, Pa., joined the Navy after he received a bachelor of arts degree in American history from Harvard University.

Highway Safety Action Pushed By Governor

DETROIT (UPI) — Gov. George Romney has appealed to Michigan's auto industry to "put the heat on in Lansing" to insure passage of a major four-point traffic safety program by the Legislature in 1966.

"If we do not act, and act promptly," Romney said at the Golden Anniversary Detroit Auto Show Wednesday night, "the Federal Government will. The competitive and cooperative decisions of industry will be replaced by the decision of Congress and the Federal officials."

"The threat is real," he said. "Either we do the job ourselves or we will have somebody else's program jammed down our throats. It's as simple as that."

Romney called on the Detroit auto dealers, the industry and the United Auto Workers Union to "join in an urgent, massive effort" to smooth the way for passage of a "meaningful traffic safety program."

He said such a program would include:

—Strengthening driver education to require it for all new drivers; insure effective state supervision and to increase state payments to high schools for their driver education courses.

—Strengthening driver licensing to require periodic renewal examinations; to require new drivers to be out on probation for one year; to consider centralization licensing; and to provide more discretionary authority for driver improvement authorities.

—Periodic mandatory motor vehicle inspection.

—Better enforcement, including an "implied consent law" to spot drinking drivers, requiring uniform traffic and complaint forms and to require immediate reporting of all accidents involving death, injury or property damage over $100.

Cubans Arrive By Air, Scatter Across Nation

MIAMI (UPI) — The Cubano refugee airlift swung into its second day today with about 90 more anti-Communist exiles expected to be released from Fidel Castro's land.

Most of the first 75 landed in Wednesday's initial flight were on their way by plane to resettlement with relatives across the United States after processing by federal authorities.

They told of how they had to spend all night completing required government paper work to make Wednesday's flight.

The Cuban refugee center reported that only 13 of the 75 were remaining in refugee-crowded Miami. The others headed for a dozen cities from New York to Los Angeles.

A chartered American DC7C was flying back to Varadero Airport, east of Havana this morning and was due to return here about midday.

First National Bank Held Up By Gun Girl

OVER THE COUNTER at this teller's cage occupied by Mrs. Sally Farrell went several thousands of dollars into the hands of a woman robber at 11 a. m. today in the First National Bank. Mrs. Farrell collapsed after pressing the alarm and shouting that she had been robbed. (Daily Press Photo)

Robbery Pair Makes Getaway In Oregon Car

The First National Bank of Escanaba was robbed of several thousand dollars at 11 a. m. today by a woman who ordered a teller: "Don't say nothing, just give me all you got."

The teller, Mrs. Sally Farrell, said the woman had her hand in her coat pocket as if she were holding a gun.

Mrs. Farrell handed over some bundles of money at the same time pressing the police alarm button.

The woman, clutching a red wool mackinaw coat and the money, was running from the bank when Mrs. Farrell cried out "That woman has robbed me!"

Bernard Larson of the bank staff, who was nearby repeated the alarm and shouted "That woman has robbed us!"

Now running at full speed the woman dashed through the bank doorway and onto Ludington St.

William Servant, assistant vice president, gave immediate chase. With him was Mrs. Nancy Pinar, another teller. Mrs. Pinar was so close in the effort to overtake the woman that the robber dropped the red coat she was carrying.

Servant pursued the get-away car in his automobile for several blocks at speeds up to 75 miles an hour.

They described the car of the burglars as a 1959 Ford, orange and white, with an Oregon license plate. In the car was a man driver and the woman who had held up the teller.

Circling through the south side of the city Servant pursued the robbers so closely that he almost crashed into them at S. 6th St. They turned onto Bay St., and Servant abandoned the chase and drove to the police station to give officers a description of the auto and its occupants.

Escanaba police and State Police and other law agencies immediately put patrols and roadblocks into effect in the area.

Loss Being Checked

Servant said there was no identification in the jacket abandoned by the robber that would indicate its ownership. The red jacket, similar to the Hudson Bay hunting coats, has a band of black near the bottom.

The robbery occurred at a busy time of the morning when the bank was busy with customers.

Most of them were unaware of the hold-up until Mrs. Farrell shouted that she had been robbed.

The bank auditors were busy running a check on the money at the teller's window to determine the loss, which is estimated at several thousand dollars. Escanaba police, pressing the chase after the robbers on the city's south side, reported the car was found abandoned at 11th Ave. S., and 17th St., a few minutes after noon.

Officers pushed their search to determine if another car had been stolen, or if the robbers were still in the area.

Ku Klux Case Goes To Jury

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — An all-white federal jury today takes the case of three Ku Klux Klansmen indicted for conspiring to violate the civil rights of a white woman slain on an Alabama highway last spring.

Collier Leroy Wilkins, Eugene Thomas and William Eaton faced fines up to $5,000 and up to 10 years in prison if convicted.

In testimony before U.S. District Judge Frank Johnson Jr., Wednesday, the Justice Department sought to show links between the three and the March 25 slaying of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a civil rights worker from Detroit.

A white Alabama jury already has freed Wilkins of murder charges in her death, and Eaton and Thomas face trial next spring.

FBI ballistics expert Marion Williams told the jury that a lead slug taken from the dead woman's brain was fired from Eaton's .38 caliber pistol.

More American Giant Carrier Power Pledged For Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Further escalation of the Viet Nam war appeared inevitable today with both sides preparing to throw more men and material into the conflict.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who has pledged more American manpower to meet the stiffened Communist ranks, was preparing for President Johnson a report expected to serve as a basis for new troop deployments, sending U.S. military strength in Viet Nam past the 200,000 mark.

Communist North Viet Nam, meanwhile, was reported by U.S. intelligence sources to be utilizing vastly increased military and industrial aid from Red China to beef up her forces assisting the Viet Cong rebels.

On the diplomatic front, the deadlock over possible peace negotiations appeared undiminished.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, in a speech Wednesday, reaffirmed the possibility the United States might suspend air attacks if the Communists gave firm assurance this would lead to concessions on their part which might spark peace negotiations. But, it was clear he had no real hopes for a positive response.

The Texas White House disclosed that the President will go over the Viet Nam situation within a few days with Rusk and McNamara after the Pentagon chief pulls together all the details of his report on his visit to Saigon earlier this week.

RESULTS ACCLAIMED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strategic Air Command B52 bomber operations have been so successful in Viet Nam that a substantial expansion is being planned. The number of planes involved may be tripled.

The giant planes' mass bombing results were highly acclaimed during Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's conferences in Saigon this week.

After hearing the assessment of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. Viet Nam commander, and his staff, McNamara stopped off for a three-hour inspection and briefing at bomber headquarters at Guam.

Additional bases may be set up for the eight-jet aircraft. One might be built in South Viet Nam itself. The planes now operate entirely from distant Guam.

There are now approximately 30 of the 600-mile-an-hour bombers serving in the unique role of carpet-bombing Communist insurgents in a limited war.

There is speculation that the number of B52s may grow to 100, with all the implications that has for increasing blows in South Viet Nam.

Giant Carrier Launches Raid Of 140 Sorties

SAIGON (UPI) — The nuclear powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise—mightiest fighting ship afloat—went to war for the first time today. Jet pilots from the "Big E" flew a record 140 sorties against Communist targets in South Viet Nam.

Two Phantom jets from the Enterprise were lost as the carrier pilots went into action for the first time since the ship was commissioned four years ago, but the two-man crews of both were saved. Two other U.S. planes were shot down Wednesday during a strike against missile sites near Hanoi and both pilots, a Navy and an Air Force flier, were killed, a spokesman disclosed today.

One supersonic Phantom jet was shot down while attacking the Viet Cong 50 miles north of Saigon, but a spokesman said both crewmen were rescued from the jungle. One of the airmen was hurt when he landed by parachute.

Plucked From Water

The other lost Enterprise plane, also a Phantom, crashed near the carrier as the huge flat top pitched in heavy seas 100 miles off the Vietnamese coast. Both crewmen were plucked from the water by rescue helicopters.

Despite its size, the carrier pitched and bucked, making it extremely difficult for returning planes to land.

Both Pilots Killed

The giant man-of-war entered the fighting as a U.S. military spokesman reported new American raids on Communist missile sites and bridges within 35 miles of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi Wednesday. Two planes were shot down and both pilots were killed.

Communist gunners firing conventional antiaircraft weapons brought down both planes over the North, although pilots reported seeing four ineffective surface-to-air missiles.

In South Viet Nam, Communist forces boldly attacked the district town of Binh Chanh, only 10 miles southwest of Saigon before dawn today and fought a 90-minute mortar duel with Vietnamese defenders.

The Viet Cong broke contact shortly after 3 a. m., in the face of heavy machine gun fire from helicopters swooping over the battle under the light of flares.

dropped from transport planes.

One of the planes downed over North Viet Nam Wednesday was an Air Force F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber raiding a railway bridge 50 miles northeast of Hanoi. No parachute was seen as the jet plunged to earth.

The other was a Navy Skyhawk hitting a railroad and highway bridge 35 miles east of the Communist capital. It exploded in the air.

Air Force planes flew the strike against the missile sites 35 miles and 40 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Pilots unleashed rockets against the sites, but reported that smoke and dust kicked up by the attack prevented them from seeing how much damage was done.

The battle erupted at the district headquarters town of Binh Chanh on Highway 4, the main route between Saigon and the vital Mekong River Delta village of My Tho.

The Communists have been trying to isolate Saigon from the rice producing Delta area for months.

The Binh Chanh fighting was the only major action reported during the night and early today.

A Senate fact-finding delegation headed by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., arrived in Saigon today for talks on the Viet Nam war with U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the American commander.

Teamsters Hall Front Crashed

A collision of automobiles on 1st Ave. S. about 11:15 a. m. today sent one of the cars careening into the front window of the Teamsters Union Hall, 900 1st Ave. S.

A car driven by Arthur Sundberg, 2644 Lake Shore Drive, had turned east into 1st Ave. S. from 10th St., and collided with a car driven by F.M. Nienaber, 324 S. 7th St., which was leaving the Red Owl Supermarket parking lot next to the Teamsters Hall.

The Sundberg car went to the south curb and the Nienaber car careened off, jumped the north curb, crossed the grass area and a foundation planting and crashed through one of the large windows of the hall. In the process it carried with it a large section of ornamental chain and posts which bound the grass area.

The car stopped partially inside the lobby of the Teamsters Hall, which is headquarters for Local 328, which serves the Upper Peninsula.

Sundberg and Nienaber were the only persons in their cars and neither seemed injured.

The trains rammed through the obstructions without derailments. Probate authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are investigating the case.

Marquette Tops Mental Health Efforts In U.P.

By KENNETH S. LOWE

Marquette County is coming to be looked on nationally as a model for developing mental health services, Willie Sarkela said in Marquette Tuesday.

Sarkela, program director for state-supported clinics for the Michigan Department of Mental Health, addressed the semi-annual meeting of the Upper Peninsula Adult Health Clinic, Inc., at the Northern Michigan University Center.

He said excellent cooperation between the local medical society had played a major part in the success of the Adult Mental Health Clinic and was highly instrumental in focusing considerable attention on Marquette County as a model for establishing mental health services and facilities.

Formerly associated with the U. P. Child Guidance Clinic, Inc., in Marquette, Sarkela, now a resident of Lansing, urged members of the Adult Mental Health Clinic Board to take a broad view of community mental health problems.

Mergers Favored

"One of our real problems is to grasp the full meaning of how to take care of human needs that exist," he said.

Asked whether it would be better for two boards at the local level (such as adult and child clinic boards) to bring about a merger, Sarkela said the Michigan Department of Mental Health is "not suggesting that you should (merge) or shouldn't."

When asked what a merger might accomplish, Sarkela pointed out:

1. Adult and child problems can't be arbitrarily separated.
2. Existence of one organization rather than two or more can help to simplify the identity of mental health as a whole.
3. Interests of board members would be on a broader base so they would not be so likely to move into narrow interests.
4. County boards of supervisors might prefer to appropriate funds to one organization rather than two.
5. Hospitals generally function under one board, even though the institutions offer many specialized services.

State Program

Sarkela's remarks were preceded by a discussion by Howard Lamb, Marquette, regional coordinator for the Michigan Department of Mental Health, on the state's long range plan for mental health services and facilities.

Lamb, who was director of the Child Guidance Clinic in Marquette for 21 years before accepting his new office last September, said the mental health program in Michigan has three objectives:

1. Preventive — avoiding biological, social-cultural and psychological stresses and increasing the ability to tolerate stresses.
2. Treatment — minimizing the effects of mental illness when it does occur.
3. Promotion of mental health in the community through education, counseling, etc.

Lamb said that the Marquette-Alger area is the only one in his region (which covers all of the Upper Peninsula and 11 counties in the northern Lower Peninsula) which lends itself to the development of a community mental health center. Such a center would be built around the Adult Mental Health Clinic, the Child Guidance Clinic, the in-patient unit at St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette and possibly other facilities.

W. A. Berg, Marquette, president of the Adult Mental Health Clinic Board, presided.

Williams Logs 200,000 Miles On African Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five years ago G. Mennen Williams became the first major appointee of the Kennedy Administration.

He remains today as one of the most traveled members of the Kennedy-Johnson Administration, having logged more than 200,000 miles in 13 trips to Africa. He is now planning a 14th.

President-elect John F. Kennedy, standing on the chilly, windswept entrance of his Georgetown home shortly after the 1960 election, named the former Michigan Governor as Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs.

Kennedy called it "a position of responsibility second to none in the new administration."

Despite reports during his first years that he would move up in the Kennedy Administration—and during the last two years that he would move out of the Johnson Administration—Williams sits at the same desk, flanked by two elephant tusks.

Still Looking

What of the future? "Well, let's say I'm looking around," he said in September when asked if he were considering returning to Michigan to run for office next year. "I've been assistant secretary of state longer than anyone else."

Last month he said he had Michigan "very much on my mind" but added, "I am still looking and thinking. I haven't made any decision."

Now he says "no one who has been so intimately concerned as I have with Michigan could ever be far away from it. However, the (present) job is a continuing and satisfying challenge that I enjoy very much and right at the moment I am very much preoccupied with the problem of Rhodesia."

Both Williams and Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich., denied a Lansing report published here Tuesday quoting an unnamed Democratic party official as saying he has "new hard information that an arrangement has been made" between McNamara and Williams.

Won't Move Soon

According to the report, McNamara would announce his retirement, clearing the way for Williams to seek his seat.

Political sources in Washington believe that another Democrat who also wants to run for office is trying to "smoke out" an earlier announcement by McNamara, who has said he will announce his intention "after the first of the year."

Whether or not there is an arrangement, there most certainly is a desire by Williams to run for the Senate. It is unlikely that he would run again for governor, as some have urged him to do.

Whatever McNamara does, the betting is that Williams will not soon move from the Georgetown house he bought near the former Kennedy home.

The house would be suitable for a senator, or for a director of the Peace Corps—a job for which Williams has been mentioned.

Book Completed

There is no current indication of pressure to ease Williams from his present job. On his last trip to Africa, he carried a letter from Johnson to one African president saying that Williams was "my able and respected" assistant secretary.

The "new and more vigorous program" for Africa that Johnson earlier this year asked Williams to prepare has been submitted to the White House. It is understood to call for more aid and more coordination of various U.S. programs in Africa—but to fall short of the scope of the "Alliance for progress" program in Latin America.

Williams has completed his book on Africa and is said to be in "active negotiation" with publishers. African students will benefit from the proceeds.

But he still wears the green polka dot bow tie that was a trademark in Michigan politics. It may appear once again on the campaign trail, just as square dancing has come with Williams to the State Department.

Blaney's Potential

For almost 40 years Blaney Park has been a famous Midwest resort, and for much of that time it has been the most complete summer resort in the Upper Peninsula. Blaney's 54 square miles in Schoolcraft and Mackinac Counties offered the vacationing public just about anything it could ask for—fishing, hunting, golf, swimming, tennis, horseback riding, nature hikes, excellent dining, etc.

The resort's facilities included cottages, a motel, a large dining room, bar, a nine-hole golf course, swimming pool, an airport, riding stables and trails, a theater, tennis courts and a general store, not to mention a 2,000-acre wildlife sanctuary, inland lakes and miles of woodland.

Actually, the resort consisted of two separate parcels—11,000 acres known as Simmons Woods in Mackinac County about 20 miles southeast of Gould City and 22,000 acres centering around what once was the lumbering village of Blaney, named after a Great Lakes captain of the 1880's. It was in the latter tract that the hub of the resort activities was located.

Now, after 39 years of continuous operation for nine months of each year, Blaney Park has been closed. Stewart E. Earle, who has been sole owner of Blaney Park since 1948, said the deer hunters who checked out of the resort last week will be the last guests at Blaney.

Upper Peninsulans must wonder what caused such an apparently successful operation to close its doors. Mr. Earle put most of the blame on three factors: Changing tastes of the vacationing public, high taxes and increased operating costs.

"The traveling public has changed," he said. "There was a time when they could come here for a few weeks of restful vacation for themselves and their families. We had everything from fishing lakes to nature trails . . . most everything they could want. Now they're more demanding. They can jet to Europe faster than they can motor to Blaney and they want to be on the go."

Earle said that the real and personal property taxes on Blaney have quadrupled. And he said wages also have taken a big bite out of his operating budget. (At the peak of the season, Blaney Park hired more than 100 employees to accommodate up to 300 guests at a time.)

Added together, these three factors spelled red ink for the resort and prompted the decision to get out of the resort business.

What will happen to Blaney now? Earle tried to interest the state in acquiring the property for development into a vocational school for young people, but the state wasn't interested. Now, he says, at least two parties have indicated an interest in acquiring the property for resort development.

In this day of steadily increasing demand for outdoor recreation, it would be a great waste for Blaney's "33,000 acres of something different" to lie unused. The land has historical, recreational and esthetic value. (It became a resort after supporting logging for many years.)

New resorts are being developed in the Upper Peninsula, so it seems likely that an established resort like Blaney Park could succeed if revitalized to cater to what Stewart Earle calls "a different kind of resort visitor." Continued operation of Blaney Park is important to the Upper Peninsula's ambition to be a vacation area, and it is to be hoped that Stewart Earle finds a buyer for this fine property.

Long Before Columbus

It seems pretty well established now that the Vikings did indeed discover America long before Columbus. Yale University scholars, after eight years of research, have authenticated a 15th century map which shows an accurate representation of the area around the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Maritime Provinces of Canada with the notation: "Discovered by Biarni and Leif."

Last year, archeologists found the first actual remains of a Norse settlement in Greenland.

There are numerous other pre-Columbian vestiges in the New World which popular belief attributes to the Norsemen, particularly the Minnesota runestone and a mysterious tower at Newport, R. I.

The latter, according to some writers, may have been built by the Celts. Books have even been written about possible Roman and Carthaginian expeditions to America.

Some sculptured heads left by the Olmecs, who flourished in Mexico 1,500 years ago, have strikingly Semitic and Negroid features.

So far, orthodox historians have rejected evidence offered, mostly by amateurs, of contacts between the old world and the new before Columbus. Until the discovery of the map, even the Norse story of "Vinland" was held in doubt.

An intellectual barrier may now have been breached. It could lead to a fresh look at some old evidence and a search for some new and, eventually, a fascinating revision of our history books.

Nuts And Bolts

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Among present Democratic state chairmen, only five were serving before 1960. On the Republican side, just two state chairmen began serving before 1960.

Indeed, the oldest Republican chairman in point of service is Wirt Yerger of Mississippi, who just a few years ago was being hailed as a member of the GOP's "new young breed" in the South. He has been battling to put together a party organization (where none existed) since the late 1950s.

There have been 285 Republican chairmen for the 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands since the 1952 national convention. From 1952 forward, the Democrats show 279 holding these 53 jobs. Alaska and Hawaii were represented long before statehood.

The changes among national chairmen are not nearly so spectacular, but are nevertheless notable. Again since 1952, the Democrats have had 185 for 53 spots and the Republicans, 101. Each party shows only three states with no change in that 13-year period.

In 1965 alone, Republicans have recorded 27 new chairmen. A few states show a total of none of 10 such leaders in the span here considered.

The country's interest in these otherwise "invisible" statistics of the parties lies in what they suggest—a rather shattering discontinuity of political experience at the state level, where action has it that the "parties really live."

Obviously, from the figures, the two major parties seldom get the chance in the various states to develop the kind of serious professionalism they need for highest benefit to themselves—and the nation.

It is often said that state chairmen are the "real nuts and bolts guys" who form the technical fabric of the parties. Yet, whatever the prior experience of most such leaders, it is plain they are in and out of the state chairmanship so fast they cannot lay strong claim to a broad grasp of political affairs.

The picture has some brightness. The high turnover figure masks the fact that some professionals switch from state chairman to national committee member or even vice versa and that some who drop out come back. Among leaders of fairly brief statewide experience, there are some extremely knowledgeable and influential individuals.

But big turnover is the story and money is the reason. Neither party can afford salaried chairmen in the 53 posts across the country. Some states cannot pay for an office or a salary staff. At least part of the vital telephone bill comes out of the chairman's pocket.

When he takes over, he inherits few files, no research library, perhaps no space. He hesitates to use the telephone which more than any device keeps him current in his information.

Whether weighing the results of voting, appraising candidates, or whatever, the chairman needs the perspective of a constantly refreshed political knowledge. He is part of the party's circulatory system. He cannot work well if sustained by nothing more than a cluster of tiny capillaries.

tional Chairman Ray Bliss said lack of salary makes it impossible for most men to keep the chairman's job long—or to give it full time while they have it. The question is, "Why do they take it?"

The answer to that is—for glory and possible later private gain. That explains the frequently bitter struggles for the post.

At the grass roots, then, the two parties are not the professional structures they are commonly thought to be.

For the party holding the White House, the matter is less serious. State misjudgments can be countered, if not interfered with, in many ways. But for a party like today's Republicans, the problem is not trivial. The vital state chairmen needed for rebuilding tend often to sputter or move aimlessly at a time when highly professional functioning is most critical.

Kalamazoo Gets $5,000 Gift To Replace Elms

KALAMAZOO, U.P. — The city of Kalamazoo has received an $5,000 gift from a tree lover. The money is to be used to replace elm trees that have been or will be chopped down because of Dutch elm disease.

The funds will be kept in a separate account to make sure the money is spent for the expressed purpose of the donor.

The Doctor Says:

Many Causes Of Anemia

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt
Q — Is pernicious anemia hereditary? What is the best treatment for secondary anemia? Will secondary anemia develop into pernicious anemia in time? Is pernicious anemia really cancer of the blood?

A—The cause of pernicious anemia is a defect in certain elements secreted by the stomach, but a hereditary factor can be shown in some cases. Secondary anemia is caused by an acute hemorrhage or a chronic loss of blood. The best treatment is to find the "leak" and "plug" it. Transfusions and iron preparations may have to be used as an interim measure. Chronic secondary anemia does not become primary (pernicious) leukemia is considered to be a cancer of the blood but not pernicious anemia.

Q—How long can a person live with aplastic anemia? Will prednisone and Dianabol tablets help?
A—There are many causes of aplastic anemia but the basic cause is a failure of the bone marrow to produce red blood cells as fast as they are destroyed. How long the victim can live depends on whether the triggering cause can be found and removed and on how well the victim responds to the usual treatment with iron preparation and liver.

Prednisone (one of the cortisone group) is an anti-inflammatory agent and methandrostenolone (Dianabol) is a male hormone. They may have been prescribed for the underlying cause but they would not directly affect the anemia.

25 YEARS AGO
Phyllis Balthore, 12 years old, will not be about the downtown streets selling brightly colored artificial flowers for several weeks. She is in the St. Francis Hospital suffering a broken leg, fractured just above the ankle.

The child had become a familiar figure to many as she went her rounds through stores and other business houses.

Ted Baldwin was elected to receive the award as the outstanding scout of the year at the annual meeting of the Escanaba district of the Boy Scouts of America held at the Ludington Hotel.

50 YEARS AGO
Marked interest was centered at the high school in a declamation contest between five students of the public speaking department and arranged under the direction of Mark Bales, head of that department. Arthur Moran was awarded first place in the contest while second honors were given Miss Alda Robb. The judges were Miss Blanche Fenton, W. L. Davidson and P. A. Lint.

After remaining hidden, it is claimed, for three weeks, in the middle of a straw stack on what is known as the Isaac Bonitas farm, at Isabella, a stranger who refuses to give his name is being cared for at Nahma.

AIRPORT

I have read with interest the recent developments concerning the airport vote coming Dec. 6. The City Council and other organizations are now trying to convince Delta County how important the airport is to the economic growth of this area.

The city has done very little over the past several years to use the airport constructively and competitively, and it has died in their hands. The city must now realize that they cannot keep things stagnant and expect interest and enthusiasm in the airport.

For the airport to grow we must remember our country was founded on free enterprise, and the airport should be for everyone to use on a fair and equal basis without a monopoly. I urge a "yes" vote if the airport is going to be operated on an equal basis for everyone as a Delta County Airport.

Drop-Outs Get School Jobs

LANSING (UPI)—Three Lansing high school drop-outs have been hired on a part-time basis by the State Board of Education as part of a six-city program to encourage youngsters to return to school.

The department, working in cooperation with the Lansing Public School System and the federal Neighborhood Youth Corps, has a 17-year-old boy and a 19-year-old girl working to learn printing processes and a 17-year-old girl set to go to work this week learning data processing.

The students work a maximum 12 hours a week for $1.25 an hour paid by the Youth Corps, and go to school 10 hours a week.

The program, first set up in Lansing, Waterford and Oscoda in 1964, was expanded by increased appropriations this year to include Ypsilanti, Springport, and Muskegon Heights. It is designed to give drop-outs present job security and eventual completion of high school to insure future employment.

Filching Builds Healthy Booodle

Dear Ann Landers: The question is simply this: "To filch or not to filch." I don't mean from the supermarket. I mean from the wallet of a stingy husband.

For 20 years I lived like a pauper. I had to beg my husband for every extra dime. It was always, "Wait till next week" or, "I'm a little short right now—can't spare it."

One day I helped myself to $2 out of his billfold and 75 cents from his pocket. He never missed it. I've been at this routine for three years now and it's amazing how quickly the dimes, quarters and dollars have mounted in my private bank account.

For a God-fearing woman who was raised in a decent home I'm curiously immune to the pangs of conscience. I do not consider it stealing. If you wish to be analytical, you might describe this behavior as "subconscious revenge."

If this is true, Ann, revenge is sweet. My bank account is growing along with my confidence and my personal dignity. The greatest satisfaction stems from the knowledge that my husband, with all his penny-pinching, hasn't saved a cent and I have a healthy booodle.

What do you think of this? Right or wrong? — LIGHT FINGERED

Dear Light: Wrong. And all your fancy, high-falutin' rationalization doesn't make it right.

Of course it's rotten for a wife to have to beg for spending money and I don't blame you for being bitter. A wife is entitled to part of what her husband makes. And this is no hand-out, it's her due—for being a homemaker and a partner.

Your healthy savings account is proof that the satisfaction you get from filching is more important than the money. If you really needed spending money you'd be spending it, not saving it.

Dear Ann Landers: We have been married less than a year. I am 18 and Gerald is 19. I say "married" but it sure hasn't been much of a marriage so far. We have not had two nights in a row together. Either he wants to go shoot pool, play cards, bowl, or go to a movie, or the stock car races or a ball game. I am never included in these nights out. They are strictly for the boys and all except Gerald are single.

When we are at home for an evening, either four or five of his buddies drop in or he goes to the phone and calls somebody. When I tell him I would like a night with just him he says, "I work hard all day driving a truck. At night I want to have some fun."

When we were going together I seemed to be plenty of fun for him. What happened? Help me, please. — LIKE IGNORED

Dear Ignored: Your sad story is a good example of what can happen when teenagers legalize playing house. Neither of you was ready for marriage.

You need the help of a clergyman of a marriage counselor. Don't look in the phone book and make a blind selection. Call the Y.M.C.A. or the Family Service Association and ask for guidance Now!

Confidential to Must Say It To Save Face: Sorry, I don't agree. Sometimes the best way to save face is to keep the lower part of it shut.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits—the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Sex—Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BARBS

Don't blow your own horn so loudly it sounds a sour note for others.

We begin to believe that some auto drivers follow their own slogan—"Safety Last."

A strain is defined as part of a song, but with some popular singing groups it's what they do to your ears.

Fools who are always putting up a fancy front seldom have plain old friends to fall back on.

Pope Will Join Non-Catholics In Songs Saturday

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI will sing hymns and psalms with non-Catholic church leaders attending the Ecumenical Council in a special Christian unity ceremony Saturday, it was learned.

The pontiff plans to hold the ceremony in the Basilica of St. Paul's outside the walls of Rome where the late Pope John XXIII first announced he was calling an Ecumenical Council on Jan. 25, 1959.

The assembly, for which Pope John set the long range goal of promoting Christian unity, was in recess today with last work sittings scheduled for Thursday and Saturday. The historic gathering closes after four years of work on Dec. 8.

Council Secretary General, Archbishop Pericle Felici announced to the bishops Tuesday that the Pope would celebrate the dramatic Christian unity ceremony at St. Paul's on Saturday. Details of the celebrations were only learned today.

A spokesman for the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity called the move "the most important Christian unity gesture of the council."

Escanaba Only 5 Pints Short Of Blood Quota

The Delta County blood bank quota of 110 pints for Wednesday in Escanaba was short by only five pints at the end of the day, it is reported by the Red Cross.

The quota might have been met had it not been for the 20 persons rejected for various reasons, an unusually high rejection number, the Red Cross spokesman said.

Today is the last of the three-day visit of the bloodmobile to Delta County. The clinic closed at 3 p. m. and the quota for the day was 110 pints.

The bloodmobile opened Tuesday at Gladstone with 53 pints collected. The Gladstone quota was 71 pints.

Archeologist To Lecture At NMU

MARQUETTE — Dr. Gordon R. Willey, a former president of the American Anthropology Association and distinguished Harvard University archeologist, will be a guest lecturer at Northern Michigan University Friday, at 8:15 p. m. in the Visitation Rooms of the University Center. The public is invited. Dr. Willey has participated in 19 expeditions since the early 1940's. He will address NMU students at 2 p. m. Friday in the University Center on Loren Eiseley's "The Immense Journey," first book for NMU's all-university reading program.

Derushas' Firm Given Contract

MENOMINEE — Menominee Engineering Corp., has been awarded a $7.5 million low bid contract to manufacture aluminum military bridges for use by the Army Corps of Engineers, Roger Derusha, president, announces.

The firm expects the project to provide work for about 200 employees.

Derusha said the invitation for bids by the Army was restricted to small business firms whose employment did not exceed 500. Fifty per cent of the total award further was set aside for manufacture in a labor-distressed area, he said.

By government standards, Menominee and Marinette do not qualify as a labor-distressed area and for this reason, Derusha said, Menominee Engineering Corp. has arranged with city officials at Norway, Mich., to lease manufacturing facilities in that community.

Norway is classified by the government as a labor-distressed area. Menominee Engineering will lease vacant facilities there previously occupied by LoDal, Inc. Because of expansion, LoDal now is located in the former Ford Motor Co. plant in Kingsford.

FROZEN RAW ORE is thawed in this Chicago & North Western Railway infra-red heating facility in Escanaba so it can be dumped from the cars into dock pockets and thence into the boats. Banks of lights line the shed and raise the temperature to 180 degrees. Steam was used for this purpose on the dock until diesels replaced the steam locomotives several years ago. 10 Boats To Go:

Ore Shipments To Total About 6 Million Tons

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Moving toward the climax of a season that hopefully will show 6,000,000 tons of iron ore handled at Escanaba, the Chicago & North Western Railway is preparing to load out the last 10 scheduled boats for 1965.

"There are 10 more boats to come, the last one on Dec. 16, unless there are delays caused by bad weather," said Lee McMillan, the North Western dock agent.

The ore shipping season in 1964 closed on Dec. 18. The dates are about average for ending navigation at Escanaba before winter storms start howling.

Ore shipments have been falling behind last season with the loss of raw ore from the Gogebic range, where the last mine is scheduled to end production soon. The Peterson mine is scheduled to close on Feb. 4.

November Down

The Gogebic raw ore began flowing in 1950 on a regular movement. Additional ore was moved south directly by rail.

"The loss to the North Western and to Escanaba is considerable with the Gogebic range out of production," McMillan pointed out. "More than one million tons of Gogebic ore were loaded here last year."

The growing volume of pellet ore has offset the loss in raw ore from the Gogebic range to some extent, but not sufficiently to top last year's total of 6,400,000 tons at Escanaba.

November this year saw 44 boats loaded with 617,112 tons of iron ore at Escanaba, compared to 63 boats and 835,395 tons for the same month a year ago.

A Good Year

To Dec. 1 there were 5,853,596 tons of ore moved from Escanaba this season, compared to 6,319,818 tons for the comparable period last year. The loss was the result of the decline in Gogebic ore.

Before the season ends this year the total is expected to reach approximately 6 million tons, of which about one-half will be pellet ore from the Menominee and Marquette ranges. The volume of pelletized ore, the product of the beneficiation of low grade iron ores, is growing and will continue to rise in the years ahead.

"This will be a good year from the standpoint of total volume," said McMillan. "Next year" No one knows what the total will be, but it can be expected that percentage-wise there will be continuing growth in the production of pellet ore."

Information For Voters

Jets Coming! North Central's Word To Delta

The schedule for jet airliner service in the Upper Peninsula was discussed today by the men who will sell the service to the U. P. as Delta County prepared to vote next Monday on a 2 mill tax for 1 year to improve the Escanaba Airport.

One of the major reasons for airport improvement is to prepare it to handle jet planes. Private jet planes of industry already are using the airport, but its present facilities are marginal for such aircraft.

Frank Buttimer, vice president-traffic and sales of North Central Airlines, Minneapolis, said in a telephone conversation with the Escanaba Daily Press that the first jet airliner of a fleet of DC9's which it has ordered from Douglas will be delivered to it in March, 1967.

"I'm not telling you," said Buttimer, "that we're flying it to the Upper Peninsula. We'll fly it for 60 days to familiarize our people with it and then we'll put it on our schedule, but not in the U. P. The other jets that we've ordered, however, will follow fast, so you won't be too far away."

"And from my experience it takes about a year of talk before communities prepare for them, but you should be getting ready."

The Michigan Department of Aeronautics has urged Delta County to prepare for jet airliner service by extending the long runway of the Escanaba Airport. The Department is the agency for processing state and federal aid for airport projects and it says a commitment must be made now to get state and federal funds for construction work in 1967. This would make the airport ready for jet airliners which are in prospect for late 1967 or the beginning of 1968.

The Delta County Airport Study Committee has proposed an airport takeover from the city by the county and a development program to be financed by the 2 mill tax for 1 year only. It would provide $152,000, which, with state aid of $152,000 and federal aid of $215,000, would finance a $521,000 project to make the airport safe for modern jet aircraft and for conventional propeller type aircraft.

POLITICAL ROLES—The number of entertainers getting into the political act is growing. Movie and television actor Ronald Reagan, top left, is still unannounced but leading contender for next year's Republican nomination for California governor. Longtime movie actor George Murphy, top right, also a Republican, already has made the political grade with election last year to the U.S. Senate from California. Television personality Steve Allen, bottom left, is on the trail of a U.S. House of Representatives seat as a Democrat from Los Angeles district, although his candidacy is running into legal difficulties. Actor Gary Merrill, bottom right, also a Democrat, will seek a seat in the Maine House of Representatives next year.

Exhaust Gas Threat Again

LANSING—You don't have to shut yourself up in a garage with a running car to be in danger of being killed by carbon monoxide gas. This invisible agent can attack you in your home, out-of-doors in a parked car, or in a cabin in the woods.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health director, today issued a warning against the dangers of this lethal gas. "This time of year always brings an alarming increase in accidental carbon monoxide poisonings. This is a totally unnecessary toll that could be eliminated if people would follow a few basic preventive steps. Carbon monoxide is a killer that can be controlled," he observed.

Although automobiles are not the only source of the poisonous gas, they are the main one.

Check Exhaust System
A defective automobile exhaust system is a likely source of poisoning from this colorless, tasteless, and odorless killer. The car is a potential coffin if fumes seep back through the fire wall or up through the floor according to Dr. Heustis. This can happen even if the car is out-of-doors and moving. If it is parked, the situation is worse.

Check your complete exhaust system at least once a year at a service station, and keep it in good repair at all times.

Another danger is called "exhaust feedback." This can occur even though the vehicle's exhaust system is in good condition. Carbon monoxide fumes can drift back over the passengers after the gas is expelled through the tailpipe and completely envelop the automobile. Obstructions, such as a snowbank or building, may make the situation fatal by deflecting more fumes over the vehicle.

Charcoal Grills
Dr. Heustis warned motorists not to run the engine in parked cars under any circumstances, and to keep at least one window cracked open when driving.

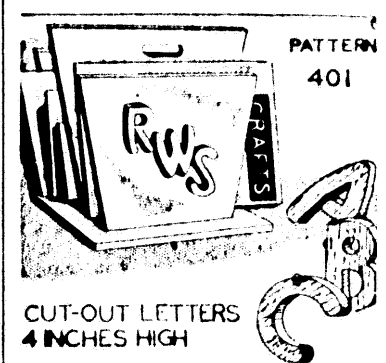

In the home, charcoal grills present a serious hazard. A burning charcoal fire produces no smoke, but gives off great quantities of invisible carbon monoxide gas. The grills are for outside cooking only and should never be used indoors or even in a garage or on a partially enclosed breezeway, he said.

Other dangers include furnaces with rusted out flues and other defects. Carbon monoxide poisoning can also result from poorly vented or adjusted space heaters, hot water heaters, and maladjusted gas refrigerators.

Cabins are especially likely places for trouble because of old appliances and poor venting. Proper venting must be through the roof, not a side wall.

EGG-LAYING MAMMALS
Mammals mostly bear their young alive but two exceptions are the platypus, or duckbill, and the spiny anteater, or echidna. These two primitive mammals lay eggs and are found in Australia.

All that the owner of this charred U. S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give—serial number, date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.

The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. Over the years it has replaced more than 1,500,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U. S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government can check when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.

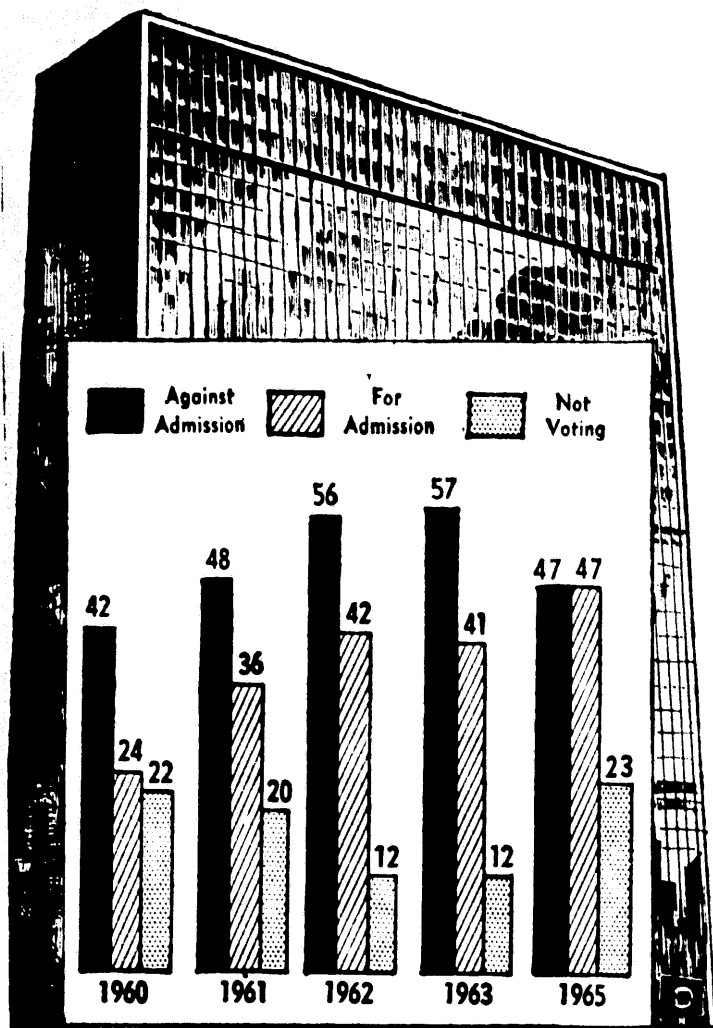

This assurance against loss is one of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $48 billion of Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

U. S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where you bank or work.

U.N. BARS RED CHINA—The United Nations General Assembly has rejected Communist Chinese membership in the world body for the 15th time, but by the closest vote ever. In a tie vote, 47 nations favored admission for the largest tally and the closest to a simple majority the Peking regime has yet recorded. The 47 votes against marked the first time backers of Nationalist China have fallen below a majority. The issue was decided by 23 nations not participating—20 abstaining, two not voting and one absent. In an earlier vote, the Assembly decided 56 to 49 with 11 abstentions that the issue was an "important question" requiring a two thirds vote rather than a simple majority for approval. Chart above shows the trend of voting in the last five times the issue has come up. There was no vote in 1964 when the Assembly was stalemated by the Soviet-American dispute over U.N. finances.

Sheriffs Favor 50-Cent Fee On Driver Permits

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Sheriff's Association has adopted a preliminary legislative program that includes a new 50-cent drivers' license handling fee to help support county traffic law enforcement. Sheriffs from 38 counties, meeting here Wednesday, adopted a resolution proposing the 50-cent fee be added to the cost of drivers' license renewal, replacement, duplication or correction. The added funds would be funneled through the sheriff's offices.

"Enforcement of traffic laws could be much more efficient and comprehensive if there were adequate financing for the sheriff's offices around the state," the resolution said. "Most of our counties are financially unable to provide sufficient funds for this purpose."

The proposed 50-cent increase probably would touch all 4.4 million licensed Michigan drivers at one time or another.

The sheriffs adopted four other resolutions dealing with safety and heard a speech from Col. Frederick E. Davids, director of State Police, during the meeting held as a forerunner to the sheriffs' annual winter session scheduled for January.

Davids urged a united effort of all law enforcement agencies as a deterrent to the increasing crime problem. He also said the news media should improve the reporting of crime news, especially in the area of attribution of statements and credit for arrests.

Davids said it was essential that the Legislature approve funds for a $3 million centralized law enforcement statistical and information bureau. The sheriffs agreed and adopted a resolution urging lawmakers to help set up an information bureau and computer system that can transmit information to all state authorities.

Present plans call for the so-called "Law Enforcement Information Network" to be established at State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

The sheriffs also passed resolutions urging legislation to upgrade the requirements for drivers' licenses and to require that drivers of motor-driven cycles wear protective helmets.

The final resolution praised James Hadley and the Boating Control Committee for their cooperation with sheriffs in enforcement of marine law. The result has been a reduction during the last year in marine ac-

Hearing Society Elects Four To Board Of Trustees

The Better Hearing and Speech Society meeting last night at the Chamber of Commerce Building heard Dr. William S. Jones, Jr., of Menominee, one of the psychological aspects of hearing loss.

"Recognized as a problem as far back as two centuries before Christ," he stated, "deafness carried a stigma. Until the 17th Century the deaf person was considered subnormal and could hold no citizenship rights. Even more recently deafness had a bad connotation. The last 25 to 30 years have brought tremendous gains in the hearing field through the combined efforts of medicine, hearing aid development, and education."

"Eight million people in the United States are estimated to have trouble in communicating and as many as a half million have extreme difficulty in understanding and speaking," he said.

"A large part of the doctor's job," he observed, "is to treat the patient as a person, not a pair of ears."

Re-elected trustees were Mrs. Georgia Owens and Dr. William S. Jones, Jr. Newly elected trustees are Brother Felix and Louis Cietens.

Air Service Need Stressed

William Hamelin, assistant director of the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, today advised Walter G. Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, that the November issue of American Society of Planning Officials trade journal an article appeared on "Airports in the National Economy".

"In 1964, 2 million passengers were carried by air services, of which 55 per cent were carried by common carrier in inter-city traffic.

"Airlines own 1,900 planes, 30,000 are owned by military forces, and general aviation owns 84,000.

"One third of the general aviation planes are company-owned, of which 70 per cent are based at cities of less than 50,000 population."

The article also stated that "air freight in 1964 was 25 per cent greater than in 1963. This volume of freight was consigned to 10,000 individual communities and classified to a great extent as vital or emergency needs."

"This further stresses the importance of the need for an improved airport and services in Delta County for the use of our industry and people in general, said Lewke. Delta County votes Monday, Dec. 6 on a 2 mill tax for 1 year for airport improvement.

United Fund's Thank You Meet Planned Dec. 8

The second annual Upper Peninsula campaign achievement celebration of Michigan United Fund will be sponsored this year by the mining and quarrying industries of the U. P. on Wednesday, Dec. 8 in the University Center, Northern Michigan University, Marquette.

"The concept of this celebration," stated Ralph E. Huhtala, chairman of the U. P. Area Committee of the MUF hosting the event, "is to recognize and thank the many volunteers, and in particular the campaign chairmen, from the many local united campaigns across the U. P. who give so much of themselves in this annual appeal for funds. The Area Committee is most appreciative of their efforts and take this means to say thanks for a job well done."

Brig. Robert McMahon, administrator of the Eventide Home, Detroit, will be speaker and the volunteers will be entertained by Northern Michigan University's top vocal group, the Arts Choral.

"I would like to extend a personal invitation at this time to anyone desiring to attend that we may have omitted from our list. If you will drop a card indicating your intention to attend to me, Ralph E. Huhtala, chairman, U. P. Area Committee, Michigan United Fund, 226 Harlow Block, Marquette, arrangements will be made for your attendance."

Farm Committee Balloting Will End On Dec. 9

The election of ASC community committees for farm program administration in Delta County is announced by Vincent Rappette, chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

Voting will be by mail and ballots have been sent to each known eligible voter. Ballots may be obtained at the ASCS office, Escanaba Post Office Building, Room 312. Generally, a farm owner or tenant is eligible to vote if he is taking part or is eligible to take part in one or more of the programs administered by the ASC committees.

Envelopes containing marked ballots may be mailed or returned to the ASCS County Office anytime before Dec. 9. Ballots will be tabulated Dec. 13 at 10 a. m. at the ASCS office.

What Causes Student Rebellions?

By KELLY SMITH

NEW YORK (AP)—A college president claims American colleges and universities fail to channel idealism. The result: sit-ins, drinking, sexual promiscuity and rebellion.

Dr. John Howard of Rockford (Ill.) College blames uninterested administrators, sororities and fraternities and misunderstanding of academic freedom for a typical behavior.

Idealistic students, he says, may be full of energy and drive but hit a stone wall in trying to express it in the classroom. Dismal and angry with their campus world, they lurch out for new modes of expression.

In an Eastern girl's school, a student sneaks off for a weekend. In Berkeley, Calif., students demand freedom of speech. Coeds march with signs reading: "Send No Men to Viet Nam."

"Parents sacrifice to give their children everything they need. They buy them cars and send them to the right schools. The youngster grows up always on the receiving end."

"His dreams are built on big-gee receipts—for him."

He goes to college. "The student wants to utilize his knowledge and power," says Howard. And this, he says, is where the rebellion is quelled, channeled, or erupts.

Howard is quick to point out not all colleges fail, nor does any school fail completely. But almost everywhere restlessness prevails.

His solution includes more creative outlets in the form of discussions with adults—professors, adult speakers, college officials—as well as professional psychiatric services for the student with real problems.

"In the absence of clearly perceived and deep rooted commitments, there's a tendency to hedonism and cynicism," says Howard. The college or university, he says, has the job of helping a student form commitments, not thwart them.

Excessive sex exists, but he says "we can't be Victorian and think we keep them away from sex by longer dinners and lots of exercise."

A year ago Rockford's student government asked for "open dorms," which would allow girls to visit boys' rooms. Howard says rather than squelch it, students were told to first decide what kind of "appropriate conduct" was to be allowed and what role the "student chaperone" should play.

"The students are still discussing it. There has been an astonishing burst of responsible conduct seeking meaningful human relationships, not exploitation."

"In a good many cases where a student becomes pregnant out of wedlock, it is a form of revolt—not just an accident as some believe."

"Our policy on sexual conduct is never stated in public policy. But it's our philosophy that promiscuity is bad. We will not be a party to any infraction. Parents expect this."

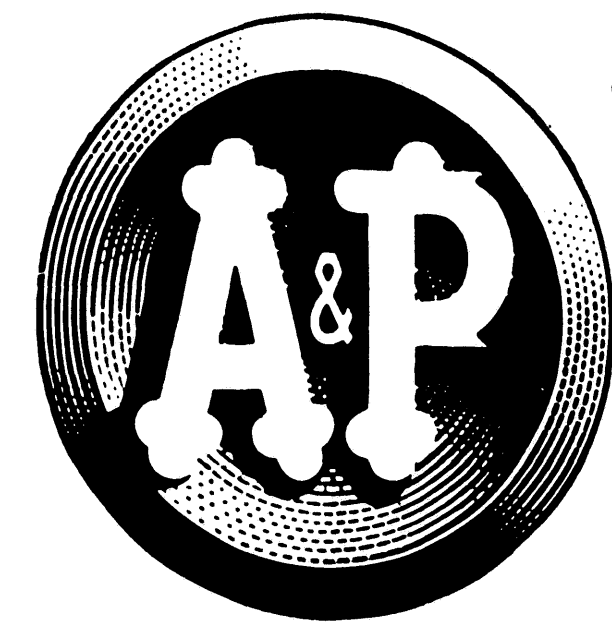

"A college has to make up its mind whether it's concerned with the personal life of a student. Some aren't. As long as he doesn't shake up the university or get in trouble with the law, some will ignore him."

Howard doesn't allow soror-

Christmas Card Deluge Deplored

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Committee for a Sane Christmas Policy met at my house one evening this week to review the situation.

The first item on the agenda was the escalation of Christmas cards. As chairman, I called on the vice chairman for a report.

"All of the cards we ordered with our names printed on them have been addressed and we are still at least 15 short of the number required to meet our present commitments," she said.

"Can't something be done to stop this buildup?" I asked.

"First it was 50. Then 75. Then 100. This year the quota jumped to 150 and now that is being called inadequate."

"Our involvement is a matter of principle," she replied.

"As long as friends, neighbors, old college chums, Army buddies and the like keep sending us cards, we have no choice but to retaliate."

Willing To Negotiate

"I didn't the exchange be limited by negotiation?"

"In theory, we are willing to negotiate at any time. But it is difficult to initiate negotiations without creating the impression that we are soft on Christmas.

"How about a unilateral withdrawal?"

"That almost surely would have far-reaching consequences. According to the 'domino theory,' if we stopped sending Christmas cards we wouldn't get invited to New Year's parties."

"Doesn't this steady enlargement of our Christmas card list produce counter-actions that will only lead to additional increases later?"

Beginning Of Sending

"A few years ago, we ordered 75 cards when we only had 60 names on our list. That was the point of no return."

"How so?"

"Rather than waste 15 cards, we added 15 more names to the list. However, we still received 10 more cards than we sent. Those names brought the list to 85, so the next year we ordered 100 cards."

"Why did we order 100 cards when we only needed 85?"

"They are cheaper that way."

"This year we ordered 150 cards and we are 15 short. Does that mean we now have 165 names on the list?"

"No. We only have 150 names, but we are stockpiling 15 cards for emergency use."

"At this rate, we will soon run out of names. What happens then?"

"We will have to draft some from the telephone directory."

The Committee for a Sane Christmas Policy stands adjourned.

AUTO SAFETY PROJECTS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Greater safety for the driver and passengers in the family auto is in store because of recent developments in the design and equipment of new cars, as well as continued emphasis on seat belts. So reports the Division of Accident Prevention of the Public Health Service (PHS).

The PHS has supported 69 research projects in the field of traffic injury prevention at a cost of $8 million.

Open your eyes...

the college problem won't go away

It won't until we do something about this crisis in higher education.

Some colleges predict that they soon may have to turn away qualified high school graduates.

If they do have to turn away these potential leaders, it will be because of shortages—in buildings, facilities, and especially qualified teachers.

But we need leaders, more and more. Leaders manage and make wise use of our manpower, resources and human skills.

Good leadership protects our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards.

This is everybody's concern. Make it yours. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

PRUNE PEOPLE bring back during the coming year, legend says. They are easy to make with ingredients most families have on hand at Christmas time: prunes, eggs, Brazil nuts, together with plywood scraps, picture wire and scraps of such decorative materials as foil and gift wrapping paper. Some characters that might be created from prunes and other ingredients are shown at right. The chimney sweep is prunes from neck to toe. His ladder and hat are made from shiny black construction paper. He and his companions, the Tyrolean prune couple, stand on a three-inch wooden base covered with foil. Each has Brazil nuts glued to the base for feet, and a walnut for a head.

Traffic Deaths Down In State

LANSING UPI — Traffic deaths in Michigan so far this year have declined 3.5 per cent from those at this point a year ago according to the state police.

However, statistics show injuries and accidents have been on the increase.

During the month of November accidents and injuries increased 16 per cent compared with the same month a year ago.

The 11-month traffic fatality toll was 1,862 compared with 1,930 deaths after the same period in 1964 for a decrease of 68 traffic fatalities.

There were 156 traffic deaths last month compared with a five-year average for the same month of 158. However, delayed fatal reports may increase the figure somewhat.

Police figures show the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was down seven per cent from the same figure a year ago.

An estimated 29.8 billion miles have been driven by Michigan motorists during the first nine months of this year, an increase of six per cent over 1964 figures.

Judges Draft Curb On Klan

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A three-judge federal panel pronounced within a few days an injunction limiting activities of the Ku Klux Klan in the Bogalusa, La., area. The judges condemned klansmen as "bullies" who "exploit the forces of hate, prejudice and ignorance."

The judges issued a strongly worded, 38-page opinion Wednesday. They accused the Klan of "incurable evil of violence, intimidation and coercion" in Washington Parish (county), the scene of months of racial strife.

The Klan's lawyer, Jerry McKernan, said he would appeal the opinion directly to the U.S. Supreme Court if his clients desired. He charged the government was "trying to limit activities of private individuals. It is not a question of any organization but the individual's freedom."

The opinion was written by Judge John Minor Wisdom of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. U.S. District Judges Herbert W. Christenberry and Robert A. Amsworth concurred.

Wisdom made it clear the opinion did not constitute an injunction of the Klan, but he said an injunction will be issued when Justice Department lawyers have had time to write a proposal writ.

New Indian Aide Not Desk Jockey

Billy D. Bolin, new Bureau of Indian Affairs Agent at Gladstone, intends to spend most of the time in the field rather than behind a desk in his City Hall office.

"That's where the work is," Bolin smiled. "That's where I'll be spending most of my time."

Bolin, 44, has been in Indian service since 1950.

He has worked at Flandreau Indian School, Flandreau, S. D., at the Yankton Indian Reservation, Wagner, S. D., and came to Gladstone last month from Lac Courte Oreilles reservation near Hayward, Wis.

Born in Decatur, Ill., Bolin got into Indian Affairs work from a position as manager of a garment factory at Faribault, Minn., which made men's clothing for Indians.

Brings Programs Closer
From his Gladstone office, he will work under the U. S. Dept. of Interior, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Great Lakes Agency, Ashland, Wis.

"My main concern here is to bring our bureau programs — the employment assistance, adult vocational training and adult educational programs — closer to the people," he said.

"It's too hard to adequately serve from as far away as Ashland."

Bolin will serve the Hannahville Indian community at Wilson, the Keweenaw Bay Mills reservation at L'Anse, and reservations at Brimley and Mount Pleasant.

He hopes to spend two days a week at Hannahville, one day each week at L'Anse and Brimley and also visit the Mount Pleasant settlement about "twice a month."

The employment assistance program, financed by federal funds, provides transportation, living quarters and expense money for Indians who volunteer to go to metropolitan employment centers. Bureau field staffers take care of all needs until the Indian's first checks start coming in.

Provide Education
Bolin said the program used to be known as a "relocation" project, but has been renamed the Employment Assistance Program.

The vocational education program provides similar benefits when an Indian attends an approved school to learn a trade. Benefits could continue up to 24 months and when he completes his training the Bureau helps find a job.

Bolin said most of the programs are designed to help the Indian help himself.

"We feel education is their greatest need," he said, "and we're very proud of our programs to this goal."

"Indians hold their reservations and their land very dear to their hearts," he said. For this reason, however, many are reluctant to leave home to participate in some of the beneficial programs available.

Work For Industry
"We're continually working for industrial development on the reservations, but we're fighting every chamber of commerce in the country for this and progress is very slow," Bolin said.

Nevertheless, Bolin feels, the Bureau is making progress.

He knows that newspaper reporters will still write stories which reflect the shoddy side of reservation life, but this isn't his main concern.

Progress is being made. Slowly, but steadily. That's why he'll be in the field most of the time.

"That's where the work is."

Medicare Takes In 19 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security Administration is stepping up its drive to reach persons over 65 who are eligible for supplementary voluntary insurance under the new Medicare Program.

Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Bell said Wednesday his agency had managed to get medical insurance enrollment cards and information to about 96 per cent of the 19 million eligible persons.

He said the other 4 per cent are mostly very old, house-bound persons, or live in remote areas.

MAKE YOUR OWN ORNAMENTS—Cotton thread is the major ingredient in creating "string-maze fantasies." Soak thread in full-strength liquid starch and wrap around an inflated balloon in criss-cross fashion. When thread is dry, deflate and remove the balloon through the top opening. The lacy-looking globe that's left can be decorated with a variety of holiday trims. Hang it on the Christmas tree or suspend it from the ceiling for a festive touch.

All Registered Voters Can Cast Ballots Monday

All registered voters are eligible to vote in the special election Monday, Dec. 6 on the 2 mill levy to improve and operate the airport by Delta County.

Polls in the City Hall will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. and it is not necessary to be a property owner to vote in this special election.

SACRIFICE FOR ATHLETICS
HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Barber Gene Thornhill said he got only one request to demolish a Beale haircut on a high school boy before school started this fall.

He said the youth explained he was afraid his football helmet wouldn't fit atop the mop.

Chicago Man, 80, Faces Wife's Adultery Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Eighty-year-old John Amos stands accused of adultery.

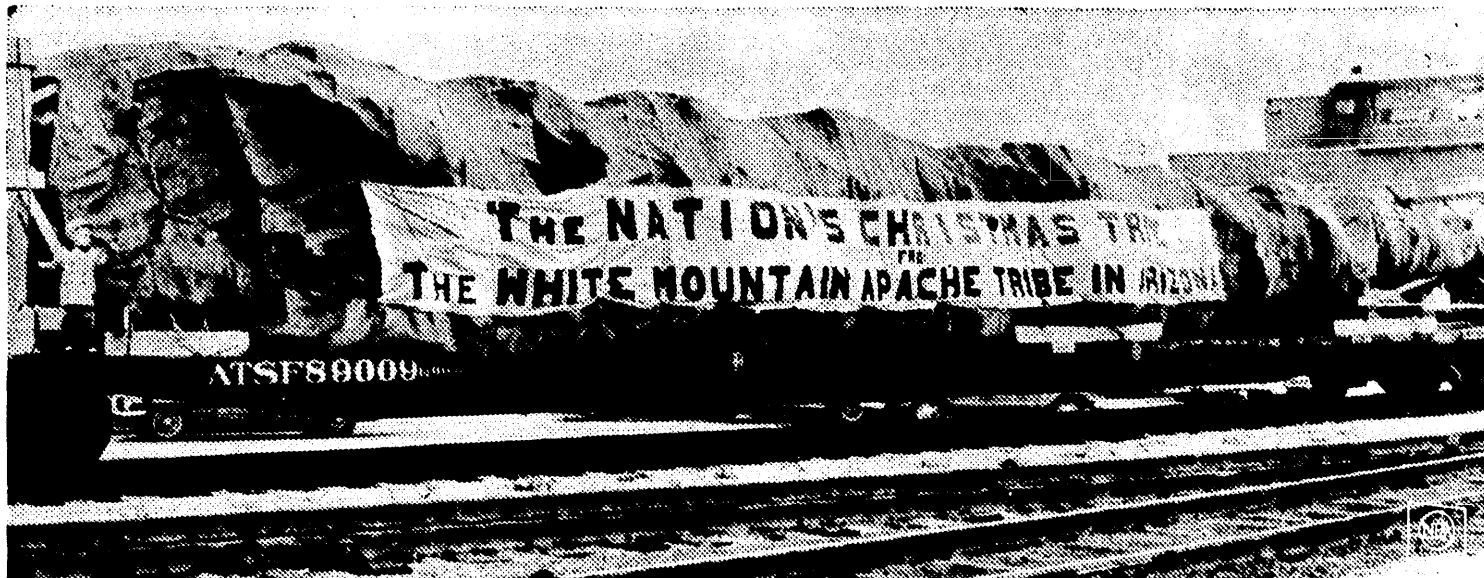

In a divorce action filed Wednesday, Amos' wife, Gertrude, said the suburban Wilmette industrialist not only committed adultery, but squandered money on the horses. To back up the latter charge, her lawyer, Norman Becker, showed the court a handful of parimutuel tickets.

Amos' lawyer, Edward Koze, said to the court: "They charged this man with adultery — that is impossible."

"In this day and age," countered Becker, "that is not impossible."

Mrs. Amos seeks alimony, a property settlement and an injunction preventing Amos from seeing a woman identified as Jane Doe.

Trapper's Body Found In Creek; Stuck In Muck

LAKE ODESSA (UPI) — The body of Leon Huddle, 77, was found Tuesday in a creek, his feet stuck in the mucky bottom and only the top of his head above water.

Authorities said the elderly trapper apparently stepped or slipped from a small knoll of land, got stuck in the mud and became more deeply imbedded as he struggled to free himself.

He had been missing since Friday. Civilian volunteers joined state troopers and Ionia County sheriff's deputies in the search today.

Coroner Dale Kaufman said Huddle was tending his trap line Friday when the accident occurred. He said Huddle died of suffocation.

The body was recovered from an outlet from Tipper Lake Creek near here.

Cazzie Needs Help In Michigan Opener

ANN ARBOR UPI—Michigan got more than it expected from a stubborn and surprisingly strong Tennessee team before Cazzie Russell took over to lead the Wolverines to a 71-63 opening game victory.

The Wolverines, ranked second in the pre-season poll, found the Volunteers reluctant to roll over and play dead. A shorter Tennessee team kept abreast with the Wolverines on the boards throughout the game.

Michigan shot out to a 7-1 lead in the opening minutes with Oliver Darden and John Clawson sparking the play. Russell, who had a game high of 29 points, failed to score in the first six minutes.

However, before the Wolverines could call it a rout Ron Widby led a determined Vol comeback to knot the score at 10-10.

Michigan then pulled out to a slight lead and held it through the first half leaving the floor at intermission with a 37-34 advantage.

Tennessee, playing a deliberate slow-moving game, had the Wolverines off stride through

Pistons Skid Even Deeper

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons succumbed to a second half St. Louis rally to drop further into the depths of last place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

The Hawks won their first road game of the season after 10 tries, 110-101, Wednesday night behind a 30-point performance by Zelmo Beaty.

Detroit put on a surge at the beginning of the third period after trailing 48-45 at the half. The Pistons took a 59-58 lead before the Hawks countered with eight straight points and the Pistons could get no closer than four points the rest of the game.

Ray Scott topped the Pistons scorers with 23 points while Eddie Miles had 17 and Rod Thorn 16. Bill Bridges helped the Hawks with 26 points.

In the first game of the doubleheader at Cob Arena, Baltimore marred the record of new Coach Dick McGuire of New York by taking a 139-125 victory.

McGuire, former Pistons head coach, had won his first game Tuesday night after replacing Harry Gallatin as coach of the Knickerbockers. Six Bulls scored in double figures led by Johnny Kerr with 26 and a pair of Piston castoffs, Kevin Laughery and Don Ohl, with 25.

Dick Barnett, a Piston scourge throughout his career, scored 38 points for New York in a losing cause.

The doubleheader proved disastrous for the Pistons at the gate. Only 2,110 fans came out to see the contests making it the smallest crowd to witness an NBA doubleheader in Detroit history.

Michigan Tech Quint Wins First Start Of Campaign

By United Press International

University of Detroit Coach Ben Calihan found some gold in a pair of sophomores Wednesday night to bring his Titans to an 83-76 victory over a southern Aquinas team.

In other first games on a full slate of basketball Wednesday night, Central Michigan edged Western Michigan 76-73, floor while Western could manage only 26 of 73 field goal attempts.

Albion got balanced scoring and led all the way to dump Lake Forest. Bob Turner had 17 points for the Britons while John Griffith contributed 15. Rick Reddick led Lake Forest with 21 points.

Adrian Survives Poor Showing Adrian and Oberlin both were off on their field goal shooting as the Bulldogs managed 38 per cent while Oberlin could muster only 24 per cent from the floor. Mark Garrett and Chuck Stille led the Bulldogs with 16 and 15 points respectively.

Manchester won its third game of the season while Kalamazoo played its first game. The visitors from Indiana jumped to a 39-41 halftime lead led by Dick Harris' 33 points. Jim Peters notched 26 points for the Hornets.

Wayne State was never in the game as Kent State pulled away to a 76-67 victory.

Coach Bill McGovern had four players in high double digits as Pat Larrabee tallied 23 points, Bob Anderson 21 and Tom Nelson and Gene Bezz 14 apiece.

In addition to shooting at a 45 per cent clip from the field, the Rockets kept a steady stream of free throws flowing through the nets. They hit on 18 of 29 attempts from the foul line.

Center Doug Benson was Carney's big gun, hitting nine field goals and three free throws for 21 points from his pivot slot.

Benson teamed up with Brian Forrette to give Coach Bob Kuntze's Wolves a 33 to 23 edge in the rebounding department.

Rapid River had bowed to Powers and Neganuee St. Paul in previous starts while Carney had defeated Alpha and Felch.

Rapid River won the jayvee preliminary, 51-47.

Rapid River Tops Carney

RAPID RIVER — The Rapid River Rockets used a balanced scoring attack here Wednesday night to snap Carney's two game victory string and register their first triumph of the season, 76-67.

Coach Bill McGovern had four players in high double digits as Pat Larrabee tallied 23 points, Bob Anderson 21 and Tom Nelson and Gene Bezz 14 apiece.

In addition to shooting at a 45 per cent clip from the field, the Rockets kept a steady stream of free throws flowing through the nets. They hit on 18 of 29 attempts from the foul line.

Center Doug Benson was Carney's big gun, hitting nine field goals and three free throws for 21 points from his pivot slot.

Benson teamed up with Brian Forrette to give Coach Bob Kuntze's Wolves a 33 to 23 edge in the rebounding department.

Rapid River had bowed to Powers and Neganuee St. Paul in previous starts while Carney had defeated Alpha and Felch.

Rapid River won the jayvee preliminary, 51-47.

When Wilt Moves A Muscle Someone Else Must Twitch

NEW YORK — (NEA) —

The cop guarding the door to the Philadelphia dressing room in Madison Square Garden spryly ducked aside when Wilt Chamberlain charged in at half-time.

"Whew! Don't ever want to get in that man's way," said the special policeman, who stood a foot shorter and weighed 80 pounds less than Chamberlain. "He may look tall and skinny, but let me tell you he's one big, strong man."

"Chamberlain reminds me of the story of the guy who mated a wild bull with a tiger," the cop went on. "The guy didn't know what to call it, but when it growled, he listened."

It's much the same in the National Basketball Association. When the goateed 76ers' superstar so much as moves a muscle, somebody else twitches.

"Wilt can make it as easy or as tough on you as he wants," said Ray Scott, the Detroit Pistons' burly 6-9 center-forward. "Sure, he expects guys playing against him to play as hard as he does, and he respects you for it."

"But any guy who wants to play 'who's boss' with Wilt had better forget it," Scott laughed. "He's so strong, so tough and so basketball-wise that he can bruise you up under the boards and make it look easy."

Chamberlain, it must be noted, has never fouled out of an NBA game.

Scott recalled a time he outmaneuvered Chamberlain before a game.

"I was guarding him in the Philadelphia dressing room in Madison Square Garden spryly ducked aside when Wilt Chamberlain charged in at half-time."

STRONG POINTS—Wilt Chamberlain, 13, Philadelphia's 7-1 center, demonstrates his tremendous strength while scoring two points for the 76ers. With his good left arm, Wilt fends off Jim Washington, center, and Bill Bridges of the St. Louis Hawks, then dunks the ball with the other hand.

neath the bucket to snatch a physical strength," Chamberlain rebound. Or so he thought.

"I was holding that ball just as tightly as I could, and Wilt Wilt and the next strongest reached over me and grabbed like that!" Scott said.

Did Scott learn anything from that experience? "Yeah, I learned not to be surprised if it happens again."

The New York Knicks' 6-11 center, Walt Bellamy, no weakling himself, says Chamberlain's physical strength is his greatest asset in basketball, not his height, which is 7-1, nor his reach, which is way up there.

"There are a few players and jerk 435 pounds; does he who can jump with Wilt," Bellamy said. "There's no one, though, who can outmuscle him for the ball, or consistently out-position him under the boards, or impede his dunk shot and his driving for the basket."

"Compare, compare," Chamberlain snapped back at the Bellamy claims that on "pure questions. "Man, why does somebody always want to compare me with something or someone?"

Wilt has said those questions come under what he calls the "goon mit" and made it quite clear once again he's tired of answering them.

"You see me on the court. You know I can play ball. Everybody knows what I can do," he said. "As far as my strength goes, let's just say I'm strong and let it go at that."

Fine, Wilt. Anything you say, fella.

Hull Is Back, Chicago Wins

By United Press International

Bobby Hull returned to action and the Chicago Black Hawks are back in a first-place tie with Montreal in the National Hockey League.

Hull, out of the lineup for four games with a knee injury, got credit for three assists Wednesday night as Chicago beat the Boston Bruins 4-2. The victory gave the Hawks 23 points for 17 games, matching the figures of Montreal, which was idle.

Murray Oliver staked Boston to a 1-0 lead early in the first period, but Ken Wharram tied it before the session ended. Doug Mohns and Doug Jarrett tallied for the Hawks in the second period and Chico Maki got the final score in the third period. The second Boston goal came from Johnny Bucyk.

In the only other game played, George Armstrong and Eddie Shack scored in the final period to give the Toronto Maple Leafs a 2-2 tie with the New York Rangers. New York had jumped to a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Jean Ratelle and Earl Ingarfield.

Toronto, in third place, maintained its two-point edge over the Rangers, who have not won in their last four starts.

Following the game Ranger coach Red Sullivan said he was thinking of making changes and might send for help from a New York farm club.

"It's a good bet I'm going to shake my lines up," he said. "There are three of four guys not pulling their weight. Whatever the matter, I'm gonna find out and nip it in the bud."

Lakers Halt Royal Streak

By United Press International

Jerry West and Rudy Larusso sparked a Los Angeles Laker shooting blitzkrieg Wednesday night which wilted a Cincinnati Royal four-game win streak and gave the Lakers a 121-103 victory.

West tallied 41 points, including 27 in the first half, while Larusso added 23, his eighth performance over 20 points in the last ten games.

The Laker's hot shooting compensated for the loss of Elgin Baylor, who is sidelined with a cast on his injured right knee. Bob Boozer, recently acquired from the New York Knicks in trade, contributed 21 points to the Laker victory.

In other action around the circuit Wednesday night, the Baltimore Bullets defeated the New York Knicks 139-125 and St. Louis Hawks beat the Detroit Pistons 110-101 in the two halves of an NBA doubleheader played in Detroit.

WHAT'S THE RECORD for most uniform numbers worn during a game? If it's no more than two, center Bob DeMarco of St. Louis has bettered it. . . DeMarco opened the Philadelphia game last Sunday wearing his usual 61. . . When the jersey was ripped, he was put into a spare 72. . . Since 72 is regularly worn by teammate Sam Silas of the defensive team this caused some confusion among the Busch Stadium spectators. . . So DeMarco switched to his third number, 51. . . There IS a recognized record for consecutive games catching one or more passes and it is 95 by Green Bay's Don Hutson between 1937 and 1945. . . Tommy McDonald got to 93 before his streak ended last year. . . On Thanksgiving, Gail Cogdill's challenge ended at 71 in the Green Bay-Detroit game. . . The longest current streak is 69 by the Cards' Sonny Randle.

"THAT'S THE GREATEST JOB of quarterbacking I've ever seen," said Coach Bill McPeak of the Washington Redskins. . . That meant Sonny Jurgensen, who was booted in the first half and in the second half completed 17 of 22 passes for 303 yards and two touchdowns and set up two other scores in the Redskins' 34-31 win over Dallas. . . "The greatest game I've ever been part of," added McPeak. . . That could have meant the way the Redskins saved the victory after Jurgensen had brought them from 21 points behind. . . With less than 30 seconds left, Dallas' Don Meredith passed to Bob Hayes with the ball on the Cowboys' 28, third down and 11. . . Only a fine tackle by the last man, Paul Krause, kept Hayes from going all the way. . . Hayes was stopped on the Washington 35 and with 7 seconds remaining, Danny Villanueva attempted a field goal from the 43. . . On a set play, Sam Huff and Fred Williams of the Redskins opened a hole for Redskins' defensive back Lon Sanders, who shot through and blocked the kick. . . Huff pulled their center (Dave Manders) and Williams pulled Leon Donohue," said Sanders. "The alley was so wide anyone could have gone through it." . . Jurgensen's over-all passing yardage was 411 yards—most in the NFL this season and only the second time 400 yards has been topped. . . Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton had 407 against San Francisco on Oct. 24. . . Jurgensen now has topped 400 yards four times in his career and no other passer in league history has done it more than once.

HUSTLIN' HUSKER—As a junior last season, Nebraska end Freeman White led the Big Eight Conference in pass receiving. He's Nebraska's top receiver again this year.
